Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1-21 are allowable over the prior art of record because none of the prior art whether taken singularly or in combination, especially when these limitations are considered within the specific combination claimed, to teach: a nonvolatile latch circuit comprising: an inverter element, among others as claimed in independent claim 1, for outputting a high-level voltage to an output portion when a low-level voltage, which is lower than the threshold of the inverter element, is applied to the input portion thereof, and outputting a low-level voltage to the output portion when a high-level voltage, which is higher than the threshold of the inverter element, is applied to the input portion thereof. Method for driving the nonvolatile latch circuit comprising a step of reset, wherein a low-level voltage that is lower than the threshold of the inverter element is applied to a second input terminal, and the switching element is turned on, and among other steps as claimed in independent claim 9.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

2. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
